HOUSE

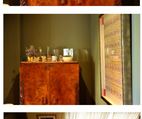
A London – Style apartment in Athens, Greece

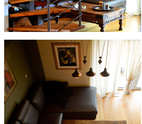
APRIL 8, 2020

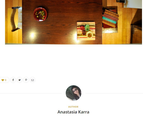
SHARE

This London – style apartment is situated in Marousi, in the outskirts of Athens, in Greece. It is designed by the decorator Maria Papadopoulou and the worthy case (pictures) reveal her, serve as inspiration so that the apartment does not become an endless sea of boring beige (Grey) color we see outside. everything from dark brown tone tiers to the presence of grass – they're all outfit the place and create a cozy feeling.

The Architectural and Interior Design company UNIVOLT was founded in 2007 and its office is based in Athens, Greece. The company specializes in a variety of projects, including residential, commercial, residential, professional and commercial spaces. Their philosophy is inspired by the quality of life of their clients by creating exceptional interior spaces that contain a spectacular and a functional result. Such project is characterized by a unique and sensitive approach to space, location, architectural point of view the client's vision (they are much!)







AUTHOR

Anastasia Karra

Anastasia is the Deal author of House Marks and a Senior Editor. She has studied English Literature and Psychology in the National & Kapodistrian University of Athens as well as Interior Design in Architecture in ATC College. She works in the field of Digital Education and has a passion passion for cozy interiors.