LIME DECO

In order to study Interior Architecture and be very good at it, you have to be completely in love with this occupation. You must see yourself doing this as your favorite hobby and not as a job. This is the key to happiness. You will always feel blessed and you will never complain because you will have to work. After all, imagine, you will be paid for doing your hobby! Also, it's not only about the design, it's mostly about the experience you will offer through your design. In addition, never do it for the money, do it with love. Money and recognition will follow.
